BLAINE'S LETTER.

A Document that Handles the Tariff Question Plainly.

RESTS THE ISSUE BEFORE THE PEOPLE

The Country Under the Present System—The Foreign Policy of the United States Reviewed—Etc.

[illegible], July 18.—Following is Mr. Blaine's [illegible] acceptance:

AUGUSTA, Me., July 15, 1884.

Hon. John B. Henderson and others of the Committee—Gentlemen: In accepting the nomination for the presidency tendered me by the republican national convention, I beg to express a deep sense of the honor which is conferred [illegible] duty which [illegible] I venture to accompany [illegible] observations upon the [illegible] questions whose settlement may affect the [illegible] the nation favorably or unfavorably [illegible] series of years. In enumerating the [illegible] the republican party appeals for [illegible] the convention has been singularly [illegible] It has properly given [illegible] the leading industrial interests of the country as [illegible] by the tariff on imports. On that question the political parties are radically in conflict. [illegible] act of the republicans when they came into power in 1861 was the establishment of the principle of protection to American labor and to American capital. This principle the republican party has ever since steadily maintained, while on the other hand the democratic party in congress has for fifty years persistently warred upon it. [illegible] that period our opponents have [illegible] that arranged for protection, and since the [illegible] war, whenever they have controlled the house of representatives, hostile legislation has been attempted, never more conspicuously than in their measure at the late session of congress.

NATURALLY ESSENTIAL

[illegible] in their very nature subject [illegible] revision, in order that they may be adapted to modifications of trade. The republican party [illegible] contending for the permanency [illegible] the issue between the two [illegible] reference to a specific law. It [illegible] is far deeper. It involves a [illegible] application and beneficent [illegible] theory which we believe to be unsound, and inevitably hurtful in practice. [illegible] tariff revisions which have been [illegible] the past twenty-three years or which [illegible] become necessary the republican [illegible] and will maintain the policy [illegible] American industry while [illegible] upon a revision which practically de[illegible]

[illegible] distinct, well defined and unmistakable. The pending election may determine the [illegible] for a generation: the overthrow of [illegible] large and permanent reduction in [illegible] the American laborer, besides involving [illegible] vast amounts of American capital [illegible] manufacturing enterprises. The value [illegible] revenue system to the people of the [illegible] not a matter of theory, and I shall [illegible] to sustain it, but only invite [illegible] certain facts of official record which [illegible] a demonstration.

FREE TRADE AND PROTECTION

[illegible] of 1850 an effort was made for the [illegible] to obtain a valuation of all [illegible] in the United States. The attempt was [illegible] unsuccessful, partly from a lack [illegible] and partly from prejudice among many who [illegible] inquiries [illegible] a scheme of taxation. [illegible] were incomplete and unsatisfactory. [illegible] was done than to consolidate the [illegible] in the states for the purposes of [illegible] that, as every one knows, [illegible] exhibit of all the property [illegible] 1850, however, the work was done [illegible] the distinction between [illegible] value being carefully observed. [illegible] result was that the true value [illegible] in the states and territories [illegible] amounted to $14,000,000,000. This [illegible] result of the labor and savings [illegible] within the area of the United States [illegible] the first British colonist landed in [illegible] year 1850. It represented the fruit [illegible] years. After 1860 the business [illegible] encouraged and developed by [illegible] At the end of the twenty years the [illegible] the United States, as returned by the [illegible] amounted to the enormous aggregate [illegible]. This great result was attained [illegible] the fact that countless millions [illegible] been wasted in the progress of [illegible]. It thus appears that while our population [illegible] 1850 and 1880 increased [illegible] per cent [illegible] property of the country increased [illegible] during a vastly enhanced wealth [illegible] people. Thirty thousand millions [illegible] had been added during these twenty years [illegible] wealth of the nation.

WONDERFUL ADVANCEMENT

[illegible] regarded by the older nations of [illegible] phenomenal. That our country should [illegible] and the costs of a gigantic war [illegible] period of twenty years make an average [illegible] wealth of $14,000,000 per month [illegible] experience of all other nations, ancient [illegible] Even the opponents of the present revenue [illegible] not pretend that in the whole [illegible] any parallel can be found to the [illegible] of the United States since the accession of the republican party to power.

[illegible] from 1860 and to-day has not been [illegible] material prosperity only. At no [illegible] history of the United States [illegible] progress in the moral and philanthropic. Religious and charitable institutions, schools and colleges have been founded [illegible] more generously than at any previous [illegible] history. Greater and more varied [illegible] extended to human suffering, and [illegible] progress of the country in wealth has [illegible] and dignified by a broadening [illegible] our national character as a people. [illegible] find fault that our revenue system [illegible], but they should not forget that [illegible] a specific purpose to which all of [illegible] and honorably applied—the [illegible] public debt, and the consequent re[illegible] burden of taxation. Not a dollar has [illegible] the only extravagance with which [illegible] charged is the generous pensions [illegible] soldiers and their families, an extravagance [illegible] embodies the highest form of justice [illegible] and payment of a sacred debt [illegible] taxation is to be made the re[illegible] protected to accomplish it in [illegible] most effectively aid the industries.

[illegible] COMMERCE

[illegible] by our opponents is that the [illegible] of the country has steadily d[illegible] the influence of the protective tariff [illegible] seek to array the importing inter[illegible] republican party. It is a common [illegible] to confound the commerce of [illegible] its carrying trade, an error often [illegible] and sometimes designed [illegible] that it does not distinguish be[illegible] and the cargo. Foreign commerce [illegible] exports and imports of a country re[illegible] nationality of the vessel that may [illegible] commodities of exchange [illegible] has from obvious causes [illegible] discouragements since [illegible] commerce has in the same period [illegible] prodigiously increased. In [illegible] to an amount which absolutely [illegible] development of our trade beyond [illegible] 1860 to the present time the foreign [illegible] the United States divided with [illegible] equality between exports and imports [illegible] aggregate of $24,000,000,000 [illegible] in the east or [illegible] would have been much larger if our [illegible] of America elsewhere [illegible] more wisely adjusted [illegible] appreciate the magnitude of our [illegible] and we can [illegible] only by comparison with previous [illegible]

FAVORABLE COMPARISON

[illegible] for the United States from the declaration of independence in 1776 down to the [illegible] in 1860 added to all that had [illegible] exported from the American colo[illegible] on the other hand our exports [illegible] close of the late fiscal year exceed [illegible] the whole of it being the product of [illegible] Evidently a protective tariff has [illegible] when under its influence [illegible] years [illegible] that had been exported in the [illegible] history of American commerce. [illegible] analyzed correspond with this [illegible] numerical [illegible] of the [illegible] grown as they have [illegible] the city of New York [illegible] and increased her wealth five-fold [illegible] period [illegible] imports and [illegible] and left [illegible] both [illegible] value of the whole [illegible] by her between the settlement of [illegible] on the island of Manhattan [illegible] of the civil war in 1860.

AGRICULTURE AND THE TARIFF

[illegible] interest is by far the largest in [illegible] in every adjustment of rev[illegible] consideration. Any policy hostile [illegible] development of agriculture [illegible] be abandoned. [illegible] system of revenue have labored [illegible] the farmers of the [illegible] protective tariff [illegible] to secure their vast [illegible] The farmers of America are intelligent [illegible] They see plainly that during [illegible] wealth has not been [illegible] one or another interest at the ex[illegible] interest. They [illegible] have been even more [illegible] manufacturing states [illegible] Massachusetts and [illegible] wealth between 1860 [illegible] and in 1880 [illegible] 1860 [illegible] of the west have [illegible] 1880 [illegible] the general prosperity [illegible] which it possessed in 1860 [illegible]

[illegible] developments the farmers [illegible] of a home market [illegible] revenue system [illegible] came into power [illegible]

[illegible] it [illegible] and in expanding [illegible] the case [illegible] 18[illegible] their real export [illegible] soil in the [illegible] the years [illegible] the war [illegible] bushels at home [illegible] have sold abroad [illegible] the only other cereal which we export to any extent, one hundred [illegible] have been used at home three and a half [illegible] bushels exported. [illegible] years the disparity has been [illegible] great [illegible] for every [illegible] one hundred bushels have been consumed in the home market. The farmers see [illegible] competition from the grain [illegible] of Russia and from the [illegible] plains of India, the growth of the home market becomes daily of greater concern to them, and that its impairment would depreciate the value of every acre of tillable land in the Union.

OUR INTERNAL COMMERCE

Such facts as these touching the growth and consumption of cereals at home [illegible] give us [illegible] some idea of the vastness of the internal [illegible] of the United States. They suggest also [illegible] addition to the advantages which the American [illegible] people enjoy from the [illegible] market for [illegible] they enjoy the advantages of [illegible] free trade over a larger area and with a greater population than any other nation. The internal commerce of our thirty-eight states and [illegible] territories is carried on without let or hindrance, without tax [illegible] of any kind whatever. [illegible] spreads freely over an area of three and a half million square miles, almost equal in extent to the whole continent of Europe. [illegible] is free, and from its enjoyment no monopoly is re[illegible]

According to Alexander Hamilton, when he [illegible] on this same subject [illegible] the internal competition [illegible] takes place [illegible] away with every [illegible] monopoly and by degrees reduces the prices of articles to the minimum of a reasonable profit on the capital employed. It is impossible [illegible] monopoly in the United States that has [illegible] or fostered by the industrial system which is upheld by the republican party.

Compared with our foreign commerce, these domestic exchanges are inconceivably great in amount [illegible] merely as one instance, as large a mileage of railway as exists to-day in all other nations of the world combined. These internal exchanges are estimated by the statistical bureau of the treasury department to be annually twenty times as great in amount as our foreign commerce. It is into this vast field of home trade, at once the creation and the heritage of the American people, that foreign nations are striving by every device to enter. It is [illegible] this field that the opponents of our present revenue system would freely admit the countries of Europe [illegible] into whose internal trade we [illegible] not reciprocally enter, countries to which we should be surrendering every advantage of trade and from which we should be gaining nothing in return.

LABOR AND CAPITAL

This would be disastrous to the mechanics and the working men of the United States. Wages are undoubtedly reduced when an industrious man is not able by his earnings to live in comfort, educate his children and lay by sufficient for the necessities of age. The reduction of wages inevitably consequent upon throwing our home market open to the world would deprive them of the power to do this. It would prove a great calamity to our country. It would produce a conflict between the poor and the rich, and in the sure decline and degradation of labor would plant seeds of public danger.

The republican party has steadily aimed to maintain just relations between labor and capital, guarding with care the rights of each. A conflict between them has always led in the past and will always lead in the future to the injury of both. Labor is indispensable to the creation and profitable use of capital, and capital increases the efficiency and value of labor. Whoever arrays the one against the other is an enemy of both. That policy is wisest and best which harmonizes the two on the basis of absolute justice. The republican party has protected the free labor of America so that its compensation is larger than is realized in any other country. It has guarded our people against the unfair competition of contract labor from China, and may be called upon to prohibit the growth of a similar evil from Europe. It is [illegible] unfair to permit capitalists to make contracts for cheap labor in foreign countries to the hurt and disparagement of the labor of American citizens.

A DANGEROUS POLICY

[illegible] his policy like that which will leave the [illegible] and there [illegible] of the employer [illegible] is just one to all [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] it. The [illegible] attractions of the United States [illegible] the intelligence and virtue of all the people. Suffrage is made universal as a just weapon of self-protection to every citizen. It is not the interest of the republic that any economic system should be adopted which involves the reduction of wages to the hard standard prevailing elsewhere. The republican party aims to elevate and dignify labor, not to degrade it.

As a substitute for the industrial system which under republican administration has developed [illegible] our opponents offer a policy which is but a series of experiments upon our system of revenue, a policy whose end must be harm to our manufacturers and [illegible] the greater part of our [illegible]. Experimenting upon industrial and financial systems is the country's greatest peril, stability is the greatest boon. Even the uncertainty resulting from the recent tariff agitation in congress has hurtfully affected the business of the entire country. Who can measure the harm to our shops and our homes, to our farms and our commerce, if the uncertainty of perpetual tariff agitation is to be inflicted upon the country? We are in the midst of an abundant harvest; we are on the eve of a revival of general prosperity. Nothing stands in our way but the fear of a change in the industrial system which has wrought so wonderfully in the last twenty years and which with the power of increased capital will work still greater marvels of prosperity in the twenty years to come.

OUR FOREIGN POLICY

Our foreign relations favor our domestic development. We are at peace with the world, at peace upon a sound basis with no unsettled questions of sufficient magnitude to embarrass or distract us. Happily removed by geographical position from participation in the questions of dynasty or boundary which so frequently disturb the peace of Europe, we are left to cultivate friendly relations with all and free from entanglements in the quarrels of any. The United States has no cause and no desire to enter into conflict with any power on earth, and we rest in confidence that no power desires to attack us.

With the nations of the western hemisphere we should cultivate closer relations and for our common prosperity and advancement we should induce all to join with us in an agreement that for the future all international troubles in North or South America should be adjusted by impartial arbitration and not by arms. This project was part of the fixed policy of President Garfield's administration, and it should in my judgment be renewed. Its accomplishment on this continent would favorably affect the nations beyond the sea, and thus powerfully contribute at no distant date to the universal acceptance of the philanthropic and Christian principle of arbitration. The effect even of suggesting it to the Spanish American states has been most happy and has increased the confidence of those people in our friendly disposition. I fell to my lot as secretary of state in June 1881 to quiet apprehension in the republic of Mexico by giving assurance in an official dispatch that there is not the faintest desire in the United States for territorial aggrandizement at the expense of any of our neighbors. The boundaries of the two republics have been established in conformity with the best jurisdictional interests of both. The line of demarcation is not merely conventional. It is more. It separates the Spanish American people from the Saxon American people. It divides one great nation from another with distinct and natural affinity. We seek the conquest of peace. We desire to extend our commerce and in an especial degree with our friends and neighbors on this continent. We have not improved our relations with Spanish America as we should and as we might. [illegible] more than a general [illegible] sympathy of these countries has been allowed to drift away from us. We should now make every effort to gain their friendship. Our trade with them is already large. During the last twenty years our exchanges in the western hemisphere have amounted to [illegible] nearly one fourth of our entire foreign commerce.

Thrilling Descriptions of Perils and Sufferings in the Arctic.

HOW THE BRAVE DEAD MET THEIR FATE

Weary Searches by Famished Men for Food—Noble [illegible] of the [illegible]—The Rescue in Smith Sound, Etc.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—[Special.]—The news of the rescue caused great excitement at the department [illegible] hours after the first [illegible] Schley was received the [illegible] of the secretary was besieged by persons [illegible] of the party. Secretary Chandler [illegible] and Admiral Nichols [illegible] information in possession [illegible] promptly furnish [illegible] the department [illegible] in order to furnish the public with [illegible] a brief of the history of the [illegible] expedition and steps subsequently taken for its relief.

The history of the expedition is too well known to be repeated [illegible] the region in the same [illegible] Proteus last year [illegible] of the party [illegible] severely [illegible] officer for [illegible] message [illegible] party.

According to information received by telegraph from St. Johns it would seem that what provisions were taken for the relief of the party were left on the east side of Smith sound, while it would have been apparent to General Hazen that the Greely party, if forced to retreat from Fort Conger without relief, must have pursued its journey along the west side of the water, and that whatever supplies may have been left for Greely, better at [illegible] been left at or near Cape Sabine instead of the little island on the opposite side of the Sound. [illegible] circumstances alone [illegible] commanding the Proteus [illegible] strictly the instructions given [illegible] for signal officer, and that he [illegible] the horrible loss that has attended [illegible] expedition.

[illegible] TO BLAME.

Mr. George F. [illegible] of the associated press, recognized authority on matters connected with Arctic navigation, was interviewed last night by your correspondent. Mr. Kennan said: "Lieutenant Garlington obeyed his instructions strictly. He was ordered to go north and reach Greely's station if possible. If, however, he found it impossible [illegible] he was ordered to return and leave stores at Littleton Island. As it has turned out it would not have made the slightest difference if there had been stores left at Littleton Island, and as the channel was open all winter and it was impossible for Greely and his party to cross. The proper place to land stores was the left side. Every Arctic explorer knows this fact and I have said so. The stores left on the west side helped Greely to get through. It [illegible] most [illegible] thing that the [illegible] with provisions on board [illegible] enough to land stores at Cape Sabine [illegible] them have ever done it. The Neptune [illegible] landed stores there on the [illegible] Garlington [illegible] such [illegible] in the same [illegible] landed. [illegible] the Yantic [illegible] back to St. Johns. [illegible] At the navigator [illegible] would have landed [illegible] months stores [illegible]"

You don't think Garlington can be held responsible?

"No. I do not think he can [illegible] his orders. He had no experience [illegible] Arctic [illegible] think Lieutenant Garlington [illegible]"

I [illegible] in the [illegible] of the party in the [illegible] correct.

"I think they were perfectly just [illegible] should have been very [illegible] of his ignorance [illegible] himself [illegible] He might have found out more than he did."

A DESCRIPTION OF [illegible]

Greely is a man of [illegible] feeble [illegible] rather thin and [illegible] shows [illegible] he [illegible] Nine out of ten [illegible] would [illegible] Greely would have died in the first winter [illegible] anyone would naturally say that he would not be able to stand the [illegible] of an Arctic winter, but those who have experienced it [illegible] that it is not the most robust persons who can stand such sufferings the best. Greely had a good deal of that spirit of determination [illegible] and that is what carried him through. [illegible] the party [illegible]

[illegible] all the provisions [illegible] arrived [illegible] every day [illegible] the sufferings must have been terrible [illegible] have eaten their [illegible] they had no fire, they [illegible] off [illegible] and [illegible] fuel to [illegible] I think the most remarkable [illegible] business [illegible] feel frozen. He was frozen [illegible] from November to July [illegible] the British explorers [illegible] found were left by the British expedition [illegible] they did not leave the [illegible] the government will [illegible] the United States has done [illegible] government is at fault [illegible] has accomplished [illegible] the British Arctic expedition. When Nares got back from his expedition he announced to the world that the polar basin was filled with solid ancient ice and that it was evident from the appearance of the basin from Cape Joseph Henry that it was never opened, that it was always a solid block of ice. His conclusions were questioned by a good many Arctic explorers and it now seems that his conclusions in regard to the polar basin were all wrong and that it is not so all the time.

SNOW-WHITE [illegible]

ST. JOHNS, July 18.—[Special.]—There was great excitement when the relief ships [illegible] the [illegible] lining the wharves. Commander Schley says: "On June [illegible] we sighted signals of distress [illegible] lying in a drift off Cape Sabine. We steamed toward the [illegible] and found the Greely party [illegible] like children hugging each other [illegible] [illegible] got off in a cutter and they flew at [illegible] thought them crazy [illegible] seized [illegible] the boat and hugged them and kissed their [illegible] and did everything to show joy and gratitude. All of the party were frostbitten [illegible] Greely was unable to move."

HOW THE RESCUE WAS ACCOMPLISHED

The rescue took place [illegible] the [illegible] under circumstances of great difficulty. The [illegible] and the [illegible] cut from [illegible] about 400 yards. There was a terrific gale blowing from the south [illegible] heavy sea was running and a formidable [illegible] apparently in vital [illegible]

[illegible] six survivors [illegible] transferred [illegible] camp to the steam launch [illegible] boat [illegible] sleeping bags and [illegible] the destruction of the [illegible] seemed certain. The seas were furious over them and the fury of the wind threatened [illegible] At length they were safely [illegible] the rescuing [illegible] had been made to insure [illegible] comfort.

The Greely party reached the highest latitude ever reached by polar explorers [illegible] minutes and [illegible] seconds [illegible] carried up to 83 degrees [illegible] observations and named Cape Lincoln.

The steamship Alert parted company with the squadron yesterday off Trunk island, and has not yet reached port.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERIES

It was discovered during the past winter by [illegible] Greely that Cape Sabine was a part of an island, not the main land as was thought. It is separated from the mainland by a narrow [illegible] channel [illegible] the strait [illegible] of the lead [illegible]

I entered [illegible] your correspondent that a large body of valuable scientific work had been done during the two years [illegible] at Fort Conger by himself and his [illegible] at least [illegible] exploration has been effected and many valuable observations [illegible] have been made. The winter of 1882 was the [illegible] of the three. The [illegible] February was 46 degrees below zero [illegible] observed as high up [illegible] Several varieties [illegible] and a variety [illegible] brown [illegible] Over 100 musk oxen were slaughtered during the two [illegible] The [illegible] with [illegible] The whole official work of the expedition [illegible] his photograph plates [illegible] have been saved and brought by [illegible]

PERILS AND SUFFERINGS [illegible]

The case of [illegible] was [illegible] His [illegible] history [illegible] remarkable. On November [illegible] he was detailed [illegible] three [illegible] to attempt the recovery of English [illegible] cached by Nares at Cape [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible] necessary [illegible] the [illegible] With the tent [illegible] sixty [illegible] days [illegible] on the morning of November [illegible] They had left the [illegible] and [illegible] two miles from Cape Isabella where they [illegible] with only a [illegible] In [illegible] to finish their meal after securing the meat [illegible] the extra weight of sleeping bags [illegible] and cooking utensils. They started [illegible] and [illegible] the [illegible] to return to the [illegible] camp [illegible]

[illegible] suffered with thirst and began to eat snow against the orders [illegible] His hands [illegible] became wet and [illegible] the northwest gale [illegible] his hands were soon frozen. The snow had also [illegible] him [illegible] could [illegible] he rapidly became weak. [illegible] hurried into a [illegible] and [illegible] that [illegible] also froze his feet. They [illegible] the [illegible] and feet by placing the frozen limbs [illegible]

After a terrible night they continued on their [illegible] with the temperature [illegible] degrees below [illegible] was unable to help haul the load [illegible] the sleeping bags and the camp [illegible] His hands and feet were so [illegible] help himself [illegible] and [illegible] struggled manfully with [illegible] but the [illegible] was soon forced by exhaustion out [illegible] camp.

[illegible]

The men passed another [illegible] night. They had [illegible] stiff [illegible] work [illegible] their [illegible] Words cannot [illegible] be [illegible]

When [illegible] they were [illegible] all [illegible] Elison nobly [illegible] leave him to die and save the meat and his starving companions. They left the meat cached on the [illegible] and [illegible] pushed [illegible] point, where they could [illegible] their [illegible] camp.

After reaching the camp they worked from 7 in the evening till in the morning [illegible] restored circulation in Elison's hands and feet. They dried his clothes [illegible] him some warm tea, the only [illegible] they [illegible] be able to procure [illegible] early the next day Elison was able to walk and was put on ahead while [illegible] embarked [illegible] the sled [illegible] Elison who [illegible] his hands and feet [illegible] his cheek and nose were [illegible] frozen [illegible] took turns at leading and [illegible] would haul the sled. At [illegible] and they [illegible] arms [illegible] and [illegible] stiff and he would fall and be dragged [illegible] before his cries would be heard [illegible] it was decided that [illegible] while Fredericks remained with [illegible] and [illegible] with a little frozen beef [illegible] the other men remained [illegible] twenty-four hours [illegible] Brainard [illegible] reached them and gave [illegible] and started back to [illegible] the relief party [illegible]

"[illegible] said Dr. Pavy [illegible] into camp Frederick [illegible] his feet were [illegible] [illegible] Fredericks was [illegible] for [illegible] Elison was carefully cared for [illegible] [illegible]

FATE OF [illegible] AND [illegible]

Last April [illegible] attempt was made [illegible] Sergeant [illegible] and private Fredericks. They started [illegible] with their sleeping bags [illegible] reached the vicinity of [illegible] in three days. At this time a terrible storm began and they [illegible] the cache. No doubt it had drifted off [illegible] the [illegible] continually shifting. While searching for it [illegible] decided to rest, saying he was all tired [illegible] would soon be all right. Fredericks tried [illegible] from resting and endeavored to haul him into camp [illegible] he could not [illegible] and quietly fell into a cold and everlasting sleep.

Heartbroken and alone Fredericks threw himself [illegible] sleeping bag and gave up [illegible] thinking [illegible] when he began to feel warmer [illegible] He managed [illegible] his sleeping bag [illegible] the sled [illegible] and [illegible] never became tired and weary [illegible] sleeping [illegible] take a little ammonia with his alcohol and get [illegible] His [illegible] wise method of only taking a small [illegible] and [illegible] when [illegible] to rest [illegible] hauling the sled he saved his life. He was [illegible] a few miles from camp with the news that [illegible] had been [illegible]

[illegible] was a noble and generous man and his loss was regretted by all for his cheerfulness and courage had long kept up the sinking spirits of many men.

The killing of the bear was the salvation of the party. For weeks a few foxes and an occasional [illegible] with sealskin, shrimps and moss kept them [illegible] looked forward to spring with the hope that [illegible] would appear.

The [illegible] of Christiana, Esquimau, by young [illegible] through his kyack was a terrible blow [illegible] of [illegible] their game from the water [illegible] Christiana was after seal [illegible] to exert himself violently to reach [illegible] his kyack [illegible] He was unable [illegible] being lashed in the kyack and [illegible] weak at the time.

MOVEMENTS OF THE RELIEF VESSELS

ST. JOHNS, July 18.—[Special.]—The following account of the movements of the relief steamer Thetis [illegible] by one of the officers: From May [illegible] the sun never set. The [illegible] sailed [illegible] hours. The first land was [illegible] May [illegible] Greenland's [illegible] were visible in the far distance, high bluish gray hills covered with snow and ice. On the [illegible] we steamed within five miles of Greenland during the entire [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] It [illegible] covered with ice [illegible] were [illegible] rocks with not a sign of vegetation [illegible]

On the 2[illegible] the harbor of Godhavn [illegible] Disco Island was made. As the Danish inspector lives there, it is really the capital of Greenland. We improved the short stay by completing preparations for abandoning [illegible] knapsacks were issued to each man on board with instructions as to how they were to [illegible] in [illegible] where [illegible] were to be [illegible] securely [illegible] used [illegible] than abandoning [illegible] Each knapsack was [illegible] pair sealskin mittens, one [illegible] pair of boots and one pair [illegible] [illegible] twenty [illegible] of [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] of tobacco [illegible] It was that [illegible] 200 pounds [illegible] bread [illegible] 14 pounds [illegible] of salt.

The [illegible] was well supplied [illegible] on [illegible] Each boat had two rifles and one double barreled shotgun with [illegible] ammunition. Skin for [illegible] shells was also provided. It would be a sad thing to leave [illegible] ship, but if we did we would be well provided for.

NEWS FROM THE NORTH

The first report from the north was received at [illegible] from [illegible] the [illegible] capital [illegible] white men were at [illegible] with natives [illegible] to give them [illegible] Little credence was given the story though it was barely possible that a relief party sent [illegible] [illegible] J. P. M[illegible] Greely [illegible] the coldest tightest [illegible] which [illegible] crowd [illegible] several [illegible] natives [illegible] large chunk of pork [illegible] The governor [illegible] to warn us against exposure of [illegible] the [illegible] wind [illegible] open water off Cape York [illegible] the Alert [illegible] the Bear [illegible] crew of each vessel [illegible] three cheers. It was a lovely morning [illegible] temperature was just below freezing [illegible] to find traces of the Greely party [illegible] attract attention. The Bear was signaled to [illegible] and send a party on shore to communicate with natives.

THE RESCUE

Monday the 23d at 7 P. M. rations were landed and cached. We decided to land 3000 rations more at Payer harbor. Both ships ran across through [illegible] water to Cape Sabine, arriving at Payer harbor at [illegible] minutes of [illegible] where they made fast to ice. Parties were at once sent to scour the adjacent hills for records. In about an hour a cheer was heard, but a high wind was blowing, and it was impossible to locate the direction from which it came. Soon after seaman Yewell came running toward the ship shouting "We have found the Greely party." Coming on board he brought the records which had been found by Lieutenant Taunt [illegible] of Brevoort island. They were dated October 21 1883. A general recall was hoisted on board both ships, whistles were sounded to attract attention [illegible] the steam launch was immediately sent in charge of Lieutenant Colwell to the scene of the discovery.

Commander Schley on board the Bear steamed around [illegible] Cape [illegible] Island. The Thetis followed with [illegible] boats were sent with men and officers to assist those of the Bear already ashore. The flags [illegible] which had been presented to the ships by the American Yacht Club to be hoisted in the highest latitude reached were thrown out to the [illegible]

It was blowing a heavy gale from the south. [illegible] ashore [illegible] we would not have been able to [illegible]

It is a remarkable coincidence that J. W. Norman [illegible] who was one of [illegible] say good bye to Greely [illegible] was the first to greet him [illegible] having accompanied Colwell in the Bear [illegible] with his [illegible] full of [illegible] Greely's [illegible] news [illegible] and that [illegible] Norman [illegible] all right Greely, there are [illegible] The [illegible] recognized [illegible] Norman. But the tent had [illegible] and they were too weak to [illegible]

Terms of the Arrangement Entered Into by the Rivals of the Western Union.

NEW YORK, July 18.—[Special.]—The terms of the alliance between the Baltimore and Ohio, the Postal and the Bankers and Merchants Telegraph companies, which has been under consideration for several weeks, were finally agreed upon yesterday. This agreement, which will go into effect the first of next month, practically consolidates the three rivals of the Western Union into one great enterprise. It is stated this is the fulfillment of a long cherished project of Garrett's, viz., a great telegraph system of which the Baltimore and Ohio should be the nucleus.

The contract which was signed yesterday provides for a pooling arrangement which shall last for twenty-five years, and under the terms of which each company is to receive about an equal percentage of the earnings. Each company will continue to maintain its individual organization, but the officers and working forces will be consolidated and the management of the enterprise will be in the hands of the united executive committee of the three companies. No changes can be made in the policy of the consolidated system except by unanimous consent of the representatives of each company. Should any serious disagreement arise the contract provides for the appointment of arbitrators. Mackay, Roblel, Garrett, Bennett and other capitalists will be the [illegible] executive board. D. H. Bates, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Telegraph Company, will be executive manager, and G. S. M[illegible] of the Bankers and Merchants will be general manager.

The union of these three companies brings under one management more than 120,000 miles of wire, connecting all the principal cities east of the Missouri river and southward as far as Galveston. The total mileage of the new combination is equal to about one third of the Western Union's mileage, omitting railroad wires, but it is one third by reason of its lines in most important trade centers [illegible] 80 per cent of the [illegible] of the country [illegible] with facilities for handling the business.

THE GRANT & WARD EXAMINATION

NEW YORK, July 18.—In the Grant & Ward examination to-day ex-Senator Chaffee testified that in April 1883 he loaned the firm of Grant & Ward $100,000 in United States bonds. In October he loaned them $200,000; he also loaned $125,000 in West Virginia Central and Pittsburg railroad bonds. The governments were worth from 93 to 3[illegible] per cent premium and there was no market for the other bonds, but they sold at par. At the time of the loan the bonds were in the box of U. S. Grant Jr. He left them there for safe keeping. U. S. Grant Jr. asked him to loan them to the firm as they had not as much money as they required. Mr. Ward, he thought, had afterward told him that the money obtained on bonds was loaned to men who had charge of government contracts and would pay handsome profits. He was to receive half the profits made from the use of his money. Although he had drawn about $40,000 as his share of the profits Chaffee said he had no written evidence of the transaction as far as the loans were concerned.

ANOTHER BANK IN TROUBLE AT INDIANAPOLIS

INDIANAPOLIS, July 18.—The banking house of A. & J. C. S. Harrison [illegible] this morning [illegible] A petition was filed by Alfred Harrison, senior partner, asking the appointment of a receiver, and the court appointed John Claypool, son of Hon. Solomon Claypool, who is attorney for J. C. S. Harrison in the receivership of the Indiana Banking Company. Mr. Claypool filed bond at once and took charge of the bank. No statement is obtainable yet. There are about 400 depositors, some for considerable sums. Among them is $90,000 city funds.

THE CAMPAIGN.

The Cigar Makers Declare for Cleveland—The Irish Boom for Blaine.

NEW YORK, July 18.—[Special.]—Senator J. G. Fair was in the city yesterday. He will leave to-morrow for Europe proposing to try a course of baths at Carlsbad, his health being poor. In relation to the general political situation he said: "I have not been in Nevada for several months, my duties requiring of course my presence in Washington. I know, however, the general drift of popular opinion in the West and can say first that I think the strength of Blaine in that section of country is very much overestimated by the people in this city and by men through all the eastern states. You may put California and Nevada down for Cleveland and Hendricks beyond a doubt, and it is my impression they will carry other states in the West. From that you can judge of public opinion all over the country. The indications are that the democratic ticket will certainly be elected. Cleveland was not my choice. I should have preferred Bayard or Thurman, but I am satisfied with the present ticket. I think it will draw a very large republican vote [illegible] fully sufficient to offset any [illegible] that Kelly can influence against it [illegible] if he came out in active opposition, which I [illegible] I take Kelly to be far too shrewd a politician to so encounter to [illegible] He is waiting now to ascertain the real drift of public opinion and will then swim with the stream rather than attempt to stem the current. All things [illegible] point to a glorious issue in November. [illegible] the democratic party are [illegible] and there ought not to be any fault [illegible] with the platform. THE CIGARMAKERS FOR CLEVELAND

NEW YORK, July 18.—[Special.]—Seven meetings have been held by cigarmakers and dealers to decide what part they shall take in the presidential election. A prominent dealer of this city said yesterday: "Our meetings have been private. They have been held in this city and in Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, San Francisco and all [illegible] We have decided that [illegible] to [illegible] engaged in the manufacture and [illegible] of cigars and [illegible] for Cleveland and Hendricks. WILL SUPPORT BLAINE

PHILADELPHIA, July 18.—[Special.]—The Progress, independent, which advocated Randall for the democratic candidate, says this week: "We never were more independent than we are now in announcing our intention to support Blaine and Logan. The Progress cannot regard the nomination of Cleveland otherwise than as a dread or unwillingness of the democratic party to put its best foot forward."

THE INDEPENDENT

NEW YORK, July 18.—[Special.]—The Independent of to-day says: "Until the independent convention meets we cannot advise republicans to accept the democratic nominations. They must not await with the democrats; they must not take democratic candidates on a democratic platform. If they vote for Cleveland it must be not as new converts to the democracy but as a body of republicans who are republicans still though battling one of their party's nominations."

THE SUN

NEW YORK, July 18.—[Special.]—The Sun this morning says: "The organization through which Mr. [illegible] was enabled to [illegible] the nomination of Governor Cleveland was the work of the greatest political captain we have seen in our day, Samuel J. Tilden. It has looked to Manning as its leader since the retirement of Tilden and there can be no question that Manning has displayed shrewdness and manipulating skill in making Cleveland the candidate of the democracy. Whether he can be fairly called a political captain depends on the result in November."

AFTER DINNER.

Persons who suffer from Indigestion can arrest the progress of that painful malady by the use of an after-dinner pill, so composed that it will give tone to the stomach, prevent heartburn, rouse the liver to healthful action, invigorate the kidneys and thus, through the activity of these organs, promote the natural movement of the stomach and bowels. AYER'S PILLS are so compounded that their action, though mild, effectually produces the above results. They also, in curing Constipation, remove the cause of Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Kidney Disease, Rheumatism, and many other serious ailments.

contain no mineral nor poisonous substance, and do not gripe unless the bowels are irritated, and even then their influence is healing. To continue their effect in constipated or chronic cases, they need only be taken in diminishing instead of increasing doses. For seamen, and inhabitants or travelers in sparsely settled countries where physicians are not at hand, they are of inestimable value. There is hardly a sickness they will not alleviate, and in most cases cure, if taken promptly. To young girls just entering upon womanhood, and to women whose period of maternity is drawing to a close, Ayer's Pills in moderate doses, merely sufficient to ensure regular action of the bowels, will be found of Incalculable Value.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 18, 1884.

BLAINE'S LETTER.

Mr. Blaine's letter of acceptance is presented this morning, and will be read with great satisfaction by all republicans who take pleasure in the promise of success with which the party begins the campaign. It has the ring of an American anvil struck with an American sledge, and dodges no question. Blaine, the candidate, takes several steps up from Blaine the secretary of state, or Blaine the debater, and there he stood at the head. He pronounces broadly and emphatically for precisely what is desired in a chief magistrate, and leaves nothing to be explained or glossed over or doubted. The letter is a characteristic document, and makes no promises that cannot be fulfilled; no promises conflict in the slightest degree with the candidate's expressions through a long life of public service, says nothing that can be warped and twisted into an objection, even by his worst enemy, and nothing that will not strike the voting masses favorably and be clearly understood by them. He is for the protection of American industries, and says so without beating around the question or equivocating by any word-juggling, and this is what will win. However plausible the free-trade theory as pushed by democrats in congress and everywhere, the people have no faith in it. They have great fear of it, and want no experiments that will stop a spindle or dim a furnace fire. When the time shall come for a radical modification, the people will find it out. There will be a time when the tariff will cut no figure in the sustenance of mechanics in this country. As there will be a time when Oregon shall be plowed from California to the Columbia river; but the people cannot just now see why American industry should not have the benefit of a system necessary for the nation's revenues, and any party that goes before them with a proposition to leave the industries out of the proposition, either openly or covertly, will be badly left when the votes are counted.

The letter gives much attention to this question, and treats both it and the much-mooted foreign policy question in such a masterly way that it should be read by everybody. It is only necessary to say of it, in way of comment that it is a most admirable letter of acceptance in matter, style and completeness, and is written by a man who is on his way to the White House, from whence the country may expect messages that will put a stop to all complaints of declining statesmanship.

A QUESTION ANSWERED.

A republican, who lives in Oregon City, wants to know the particulars of Governor Cleveland's "action on the railroad bill for which he is censured by the workingmen and people generally," and he adds, "The question is asked for the reason that democrats here deny that Cleveland ever vetoed any railroad bill to the detriment of the poor man."

If reversing legislation, which would reduce the cost of traveling over a road upon which poor men ride by the thousands every day, is a detriment to the poor man, then this is what Governor Cleveland is guilty of. He vetoed a bill which provided for the reduction of fares upon the elevated railroad in New York city from 10 to 5 cents.

For the benefit of such democrats as the one who denies our correspondent's assertion, the New York Evening Post, which has taken up the business of special pleading on behalf of Cleveland, defends him for his veto of the bill to reduce the fare. This bill, it says, "was passed in the teeth of a charter which says that no such bill shall be passed until it shall have been ascertained that the elevated roads are earning more than a certain amount of money on the capital actually invested in them."

Some of the other Cleveland papers have said about the same thing, and this is all any of them can say in taking their stand on the side of the corporate violators of the constitutional, legal and industrial rights of the people. The fact is that the constitution of the state of New York explicitly reserves to the legislature of the state the right to alter or repeal any charter granted by any preceding legislature. A very brief notation from the eighth article, first section of the constitution will serve to maintain this assertion. It reads:

> Corporations may be formed under general laws; but shall not be created by special act except for municipal purposes, and in cases where, in the judgment of the legislature, the objects of the corporation cannot be attained under general laws.
> All general laws and special acts passed pursuant to this section may be altered from time to time, or repealed.

This is reply enough. It shows that Governor Cleveland put a false construction upon the rights invested in the charter for the sake of "standing in with" the corporation affected by the law passed by the legislature and sent to him for his signature. He vetoed it, and now his friends are quite busy in their argumentative attempts to apologize for the act and shield him and his party from its effect upon the thousands of people daily paying twice as much money for railroad fare as they would be paying had the governor signed the bill instead of vetoing it. Were the thing to be done over again it is quite certain that the difficulties interposed by the language of the charter would have been overcome, as they clearly may be by the provision of the constitution above quoted.

But this railroad instance, which affects the people of New York, and for which their time to "get even" is coming, is but a small part of the injustice involved in the principle upon which the veto is excused. This excuse brings up the question, which is from time to time appearing, as to whether the country belongs to the corporations or the corporations to it. The people everywhere are interested in this question, and if it comes to a political struggle to determine whether the corporations or the people are supreme, there can be no doubt as to which side the people would range themselves upon. In discussing this matter it has been stated that almost all the laws that have been passed by the western states to regulate the railroads live only by virtue of the power the existence of which Gov. Cleveland denied in his veto. The supreme court affirms that power, has recently reaffirmed it in its decision sustaining the government regulation of the rates charged in San Francisco by the Spring Valley Water Company. Gov. Cleveland denies that power, and says in effect: "Once the people have given a corporation a privilege or a function the corporation becomes superior to its creator, and can never be regulated or suppressed not even if the written charter of the people says they shall always have that right."

There is no section of the state of New York in which the people are not interested to deny such monstrous claims for charter rights, for if the excuse is good as relating to a railroad in New York city, it is good wherever the laws made by the New York legislature hold. It was evidently the purpose of the framers of the constitution to make it impossible for any legislature to bind the people hand and foot by the grant of a charter which could never be altered. If their purpose was not accomplished, then a legislature may, with good motives or bad, give away the sovereignty of the people to corporations without souls, and the liberties of the people are at an end. One syndicate after another will buy from venal and traitorous representatives exclusive privileges that can never be recalled or controlled. By piecemeal, as each charter is granted, the state will lose its authority over banking, over the railroads, over the insurance companies, over the supply of gas, heat, electricity, water, etc., to the cities.

It will be seen by this explanation of the facts and their bearing upon the welfare of the people, that the veto of that five-cent fare bill was, in the first place, greatly to the detriment of the people; and, in the second place, will be greatly to the detriment of the governor who interposed it between the people and their representatives in the legislature.

THE RELIEF OF GREELY.

Lieutenant A. W. Greely, the intelligence of whose rescue with the remnant of his party has just been published, was sent out, in accordance with the plans of the International Geographical congress at Hamburg in 1879 for the establishment of a series of circumpolar stations for scientific observation, to take charge of the American station at Lady Franklin bay. The point selected for this station was the most northerly and the most difficult of access of the series, being at Discovery harbor, latitude 81 44 and longitude 64 45 west. Lieutenant Greely was an officer of the Fifth cavalry. He received his instructions from the signal service bureau in 1881, and a contract was made with the owners of the Proteus, a vessel that had been used for Arctic navigation, to convey the party to a point on the shore from which it could reach its destination by land. His assistant, Lieutenant J. B. Lockwood of the Twenty-third Infantry and other members of the party, four of whom were commissioned officers and the remaining non-commissioned officers and privates, left Baltimore about the middle of June to join Greely at St. Johns. A month was occupied in the passage from Newfoundland to Lady Franklin bay, and Discovery harbor was reached on August 11. On the 18th of August a telegram was received announcing an auspicious beginning of the work of the station. In January, 1882, letters were received from Dr. Octave Pavy who had gone to the Arctic regions with the Gulnare in 1880, and had joined the Greely expedition at Godhaven. These were dated in September, 1881, and contained the last news received from the station.

It was arranged before Lieutenant Greely's departure that in the summers of 1882 and 1883 expeditions should be sent to replenish the stores of the colony and to afford any relief of which it might stand in need. He was instructed, if no relief expedition previously arrived, to abandon the station not later than September, 1883, and retreat southward by boat, following closely the east coast of Grinnell land until he met the relieving vessel or arrived at Littleton island, where it was assumed relief would be surely awaiting him. The relief expedition was sent out in the Neptune in charge of Lieutenant Beebe, and set sail in June of that year. It proved an unfavorable season, and after contending with the ice for a month the vessel only reached the latitude of 79:20. Stores were cached at Littleton island and Cape Sabine and the Neptune returned.

The second relief expedition, that of 1883, was placed in charge of Lieutenant E. A. Garlington, of the Seventh cavalry, with a party of fourteen men, including a competent ice pilot and three experienced sailors. The Proteus was again employed to make the trip from St. Johns. She was commanded by Capt. Richard Pike with a crew of twenty-two men. The Yantic of the United States navy, under Commander Frank Wildes, was ordered to accompany the Proteus, to render all possible assistance and to remain at Littleton island until the return of the relief expedition under Lieut. Garlington, in case it should be able to proceed to the station of Fort Conger on the island. Lieutenant Garlington received his instructions from the signal service bureau, which began as follows:

> You are aware of the necessity of reaching Lieut. Greely and party with the expedition this year. This necessity cannot be overestimated, as Lieutenant Greely's supplies will be exhausted during the coming fall, and unless the relief ship can reach him he will be forced, with his party, to retreat southward by land before winter sets in. Such a retreat will involve hardship and the probable abandonment of much valuable public property, with the possible loss of important records and life. For that and other reasons, which will occur to you, no effort must be spared to push the vessel through to Lady Franklin bay.

The Proteus left St. Johns on the 29th of June, and on the 13th of September the secretary of the navy received a dispatch from the same place, signed by Commander Wildes, and announcing the return there of the Yantic, bringing Captain Pike and crew of the Proteus, and Lieutenant Garlington and the Greely relief party, with a brief statement of the failure of the expedition. We have not space to relate the facts as subsequently brought out, but can only say that the Proteus was crushed by the ice near Cape Albert, and sank before the stores were all removed. A court of inquiry was ordered by the president, which attributed the failure of the expedition to "the grave errors and omissions" of the chief signal officer of the army, and the final result as shown in our dispatches sustains the verdict. Immediately on the announcement of the failure of the expedition the question of a third effort to relieve Lieutenant Greely began to be discussed. It was decided that another spring would have to be awaited before any practical steps could be taken, but in the meantime it was determined to appoint a commission to take the matter into consideration and supervise all the preparations. This commission consisted of Gen. Wm. B. Hazen, chief of the signal service bureau, and Capt. Geo. W. Davis of the Fourteenth infantry, selected by the secretary of war, and Capt. James A. Greer, who had commanded the Tigress on the search for the Polaris survivors, and Lieutenant Commander B. H. McCalla, designated by the secretary of the navy. This commission at the beginning of the present year began receiving suggestions and plans regarding the new expedition for the relief of Lieutenant Greely and his party.

Secretary Chandler deserves much credit for his foresight and energy and high executive ability in the arrangement of the details of the expedition. As an instance of this, his order of February 4 last may be cited, in which, at this early date, he called the attention of heads of bureaus to the expedition, and suggested that they familiarize themselves with the subject, in order that they might be prepared to do the necessary work without delay. The interest of England in the search was practically exemplified in the gift to this country of the ship Alert which was duly accepted by congress about the 1st of March. The Alert is famous by reason of the fact that she has penetrated the Arctic seas to a point nearer the pole than any other vessel ever reached. This was when, in 1875-6, she was the advance ship of the expedition of Sir George Nares. At this time she succeeded in reaching Cape Sheridan, which is sixty or seventy miles north by east of the Greely station. On this expedition she was only destined to go to the entrance of Smith sound, where she was to remain as a base of supplies, upon which the crews of the Bear and Thetis might, if necessary, fall back. These two steamers, one of which is a whaler and the other a sealer, were to push ahead towards Lady Franklin bay, examining the western coast along which Greely and his party were expected to have come if they started south last summer or fall. The three vessels were to rendezvous at Godhaven, on the Greenland coast, and thence proceed north. The Bear, the advance vessel of the three, left the last of April, and the others soon followed her to the north.

The expedition was placed under the charge of Commander Schley. Secretary Chandler wisely refrained from hampering with instructions, as the following communication shows:

> NAVY DEPARTMENT, April 21, 1884.
> Sir—The Thetis, Bear and Alert, the ships of the Greely relief expedition of 1884, being ready, you are ordered to take command of them and to proceed to the coast of Greenland, or farther north if necessary, and, if possible, to find and rescue or ascertain the fate of Lieutenant A. W. Greely and his comrades.
> All the officers and men under your command are hereby enjoined to perform any duty at sea or on land to which you may order them.
> No detailed instructions will be given you. Full confidence is felt that you have both the capacity and the courage, guided by the discretion necessary, to do all that can be required of you by the department or the nation for the rescue of our imperiled countrymen. With earnest wishes and high hopes for your success and safe return,
> I am, very truly, W. E. CHANDLER.

The success of this expedition, as shown by our dispatches, has excited deep gratitude, but the expression of this emotion is usually accompanied by the hope that no more lives should be periled in what appears to be so trifling a struggle with the forces of nature. Senator Edmunds in voting for the passage of the bill authorizing this expedition expressed the common feeling when he said that it should be the last. But there is another side to this question. The fact that Engineer Melville declared not only his willingness but his desire to go on another Arctic expedition after his terrible experience with the lamented Captain De Long of the Jeannette, is a fine illustration of the fascination which a large number, if not a majority, of Arctic explorers are under, and their anxiety to renew the struggle. Such a longing for adventure and the exercise of courage and endurance are vital influences upon spirits of primitive heroism. It prompted those wonderful explorations of the sixteenth century. It was this which urged the last voyage of Ulysses and his companions, starting out in old age with the deliberate expectation of dying in adventurous travail, and it is one of the redeeming aboriginal instincts of humanity. It is powerful under the conventionalities of life and the attractions of luxury as it was in the primitive times. And its existence means much for the benefit of the world in unconquerable energy and perpetual struggle for the final conquest of nature. It is akin to the feeling the soldier has for the flag, and it should not be too strictly restrained in favor of the absolutely practical and immediately useful, in an age which is not overcharged with enthusiasm.

Less than one hundred national banks have failed during the twenty years since the establishment of the present banking system, and failures would be still more infrequent if the stockholders of national banks gave proper attention to the action of the controller of the currency in directing that the stockholders of the Marine bank of New York city, and of the First National bank of Monmouth, in Illinois, be assessed 100 per cent. to meet the obligations of those defunct institutions. Section 5151 of the revised statutes of the United States provides that stockholders of national banks shall be held responsible to the extent of the par value of their shares, in addition to the amount invested in such shares, and the responsibility in most other banks is the same.

There was some excuse for Hawthorne writing the life of his old classmate, Pierce, when the latter was nominated for the presidency, for nobody, except Hawthorne, knew him; but it is to be regretted that the author of the "Life of Franklin Pierce" was rewarded with a consulship. Expectation of a similar reward has since given us a "Life of Rutherford B. Hayes," several lives of "James A. Garfield," and a "Life of Grant," by Charles A. Dana. And now Colonel Thomas W. Knox leads off with a campaign "Life of James G. Blaine and John A. Logan," "with illustrations."

Mr. Watterson said, in his ratification speech at Louisville, that the democratic national committee "is not now in the hands of protectionists." After he has read Blaine's letter of acceptance he will perhaps change his mind, and come to the opinion that the whole country is in the hands of protectionists, and likely to remain there.

A suit for $50,000 damages, brought against a well known firm of wholesale grocers in New York, by a lady whose life was endangered by eating of canned tomatoes put up by the firm, is a novel method and may prove to be an effective one, of enforcing caution by dealers in preparing canned goods for the market.

The St. Louis Westliche Post, always known as Carl Schurz's German paper, came out on the morning of the 15th for Blaine and Logan, saying frankly that it had seen its error in bolting the ticket, had lost subscribers, and in every way become disgusted with the attempt to train with the democrats.

The St. Louis Evening Chronicle, one of the leading democratic papers of its section, sums up Cleveland's career and standing, and says he will be defeated, and deserves to be defeated.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Washington Territory.

Numerous Clarke county farmers commenced last week to cut their grain, and soon the harvest will be in full blast.

At the election in Port Townsend last Monday 295 votes were cast, 83 being by women, the vote being much the largest ever cast in the town.

Seattle Chronicle: The supreme court has adjourned until the 15th day of September, the recently appointed judge not having arrived in the city.

The Cleveland and Hendricks campaign club at Walla Walla is making arrangements for the reception of the territorial delegates to the late national democratic convention.

Thomas Johnson, who shot and killed Indian Jack near Olympia and wounded Indian Frank, has had examination in Justice Keady's court. The justice held that the shooting was done in self defense and ordered the discharge of Johnson.

Goldendale Gazette: There is said to be about 20,000 Oregon sheep now herding in the Simcoe mountains, north of Glendale. The sheep owners are now held for trial on the charge of bringing sheep into the county without a permit from the sheep inspector, as provided by law.

Seattle exchange says: It is now generally conceded that the schooner Premier is lost. It is over 150 days since she left Newcastle, N. S. W., for Eureka. She was a fine, strong vessel, and must have met with extraordinary bad weather to have caused her mishap. The Premier was a three masted schooner, built by Hall Brothers at Port Ludlow.

The auditor has finished making the footings of the assessment roll for 1884, from which the following is an extract: Value of deeded real estate, $1,142,120; value of improvements, $415,050; value of personal property, $1,415,120. Total assessment, $2,916,620. Number of acres of deeded land in the county, 148,833; number of acres in cultivation, 42,530. The assessment falls nearly a half million dollars short of that of 1883, but property was assessed at an average of 30 per cent. less this year than last.

Last Monday, while six Chinamen, all others, were engaged in towing a boat up Snake river, near the mouth of Salmon, and while walking below a high embankment, a portion of it fell down, burying one of them by the name of Yen Yung, under about five feet of earth. His companions hastily dug him out and found that he had received internal injuries. No medical assistance being near at hand, he lingered in great agony until evening, when death ended his sufferings.

Levi and William Holland, two fishermen have their camp pitched about half a mile below the mouth of Asotin creek. Monday afternoon, while Levi was strolling along the bank of Snake river, a large boulder which had become loose, rolled down the hillside, striking him on the legs, felling and pinning him to the ground. His cries for help were heard by his brother, who came to his rescue and conveyed him to camp, when medical aid was summoned, and upon examination it was found that although no bones were broken, he was severely cut and bruised.

Kittitas Localizer: Charles Wilcox, from Moses coulee, informs us that it has been quite seasonable of late for the growing crops. Several fine rains had fallen within a fortnight at the time he left. The people in the Big Bend are much elated over the promising outlook of the crops. Some who left the country because they thought it too dry will regret their hasty departure. He says his corn is nearly waist high, and his barley is excellent. The crops generally in the coulee are fine. The whole country has a cheerful aspect, and the settlers are delighted with the prospect.

Walla Walla Journal: Twelve Palouse river Indians of the Big Thunder band at Lyon's ferry, have arrived in town, and under the conduct of Special Agent Cyrus Beede, proceeded to the U. S. land office and filed upon homesteads. Their claims comprise a body of land in township 13, north of range 37 east, W. M., on both sides of the Palouse river, extending north and south. This tract has been the stamping ground of Big Thunderer's men for the past twenty years. In accordance with the new law no filing fees are required from the Indians. The claimants are recorded as follows: Old Charley, Palouse Jack, William, Young Charley, Bones, Sweeneo, Eam-i-akin, Lean, Fisher, Tach Situs, Tsch-Letsch III and Polo-colts.

Wednesday evening a man came near losing his life by careless shooting, at Tacoma. It seems that two men were rowing in a small boat, heading for the old town, when one was shot through the forehead, the ball coming out about two inches from where it entered. They had nearly reached the Tacoma Mill Company's wharf when the accident happened, and the unfortunate man was quickly removed to a drug store, where his wound was dressed. Although it bled quite freely it was not thought that the wound would prove fatal. The man who did the shooting was on the bluff, and was dressed in a blue suit. The injured man's name could not be learned. Of course the shooting was accidental, at least it is supposed to be such, as the man had been firing off his rifle a number of times previously, and had even been warned as to the danger in doing so by a sailor on board the Lizzie Williams.

Western Oregon.

Oregon City Enterprise: William Barlow in all probability will rebuild his house that was destroyed by fire during his absence on the Fourth with his [illegible].

The farmers of Damascus, Clackamas county, are busy harvesting a good hay crop. Wheat will soon be ripe, and everything is growing rapidly. The fruit crop will be a large one, and some kinds of it are already ripe.

Wednesday while going through a lane, near Albany, Everett Arnold was attacked by a vicious cow, which gored him in a very severe manner, running one of its horns nearly an inch into his body, throwing him to the ground and bruising him up generally. But for the presence of several other boys, who succeeded in driving the cow off, he might have been killed.

An exchange is responsible for the following rattlesnake story: Frank Newman, living near Vinson, Oregon, was bitten by a rattlesnake about two weeks ago. He felt something hanging to his pants on the back part of his leg, and turning to see what it was he saw the snake fall to the ground, and gathering a club killed it. He suffered nothing from the bite, and after a few days it gave him no uneasiness; but a few days ago, happening to touch the part bitten with his hand on which he had a scratch, some of the poison got into the sore, and his hand commenced swelling, and is now, according to our informant, in a very bad shape.

Montana.

Butte's bullion shipments for the past week amounted to $100,000.

The wool clip in the Bitter Root valley this year amounts to [illegible] pounds.

J. K. Waite and John Murphy of Butte are arranging a [illegible], to come off for $150 a side.

The Northern Pacific Express Company in the past week received of Helena bullion as follows: Gold, $36,0[illegible].71; silver, $12,500; total, $92,0[illegible].71. This does not include the [illegible] bullion, which is shipped by freight.

The [illegible] says: Monell's [illegible] house [illegible] at Glendale. He [illegible] but he [illegible] than any other [illegible].

The Crow Indians are [illegible] the result of [illegible] number of them [illegible] business of cutting hay for sale. Some of them are sharp enough to have already located good claims which they intend to sell when that part of the reservation is thrown open to settlement.

The Helena Herald says: The Lexington has come to the front again with a dividend of $150,000. It was declared in Paris, June 5, and is now payable. The first dividend this year was one of $150,000, declared in February. The dividend declared June 1, 1883, was $200,000. Thus the total profits divided among the stockholders during the last year and a half have been $500,000. It is understood that the company still has a handsome balance in reserve. The last dividend places the Lexington at the head of Montana silver mines. The property is reported in splendid condition. It will soon be opened up on the [illegible] level. The upper workings show an abundance of ore and the mill is yet as good as new. The above statement of profits is an all sufficient commentary on the economy and intelligence with which the property is managed.

Carl Schurz' Paper Comes Out Strong for the Republican Ticket.

The Westliche Post of St. Louis, Carl Schurz's paper, after holding [illegible] the nomination of Blaine and Logan, came out on the morning of the 15th with an announcement that it would support the republican ticket. The cause of this action lies in the fact that the Westliche Post's subscribers fell away in thousands and the paper was almost wrecked. It said: "The strongest man had been nominated by the democrats, and we were far from thinking of the good words we have said concerning him, but the more we try to familiarize ourselves with the idea of a democrat at the head of our national administration, the less we are able to reconcile ourselves to it. The danger that was considered the more vivid because the reminiscences of the past, and to-day we do not find that we are justified in making the slightest concession that a democrat, be he more Grover Cleveland even, would present an [illegible] front, under all circumstances, to the menaces of the southern brigadiers, from the vice presidential candidate, who in the shape of the dyed-in-the-wool old bourbon, of Hendricks, has been placed at Cleveland's side. One can anticipate still less a firm resistance to southern aggression should any chance, which the unforgotten past renders possible, require such a resistance. The Westliche Post opposed the old ticket four years ago simply on account of this man Hendricks. Now its name of Cleveland alone cannot accomplish and cannot make the democratic declaration of principles appear any more agreeable to us. And now one word about the republican ticket. We have criticised it thus far freely, but we admit now, with equal freedom, that we erred. We expected of the other party what the republican party can best perform. Republicans can do no better than remain loyal to their ticket."

Logan's Letter of Acceptance.

A Washington special says: General Logan has telegraphed to Mr. Blaine that his letter of acceptance was ready, and desired to know when Mr. Blaine proposed to issue his so he might make his public at the same time. General Logan's letter, in addition to the formal acceptance of the nomination, will treat upon the results accomplished by the war, and urge the necessity of maintaining the same in accordance with the principles involved in that struggle.

As a Cure for Sore Throat and Coughs, "Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been thoroughly tested, and maintain their good reputation.

CITY.

[illegible] ASSIGNMENT.—Judge Deady yesterday [illegible] the demurrer of the defendants in the suit [illegible] A Salmon, L Bettman and Alex [illegible] was brought to set aside an alleged [illegible] assignment made by Salmon who failed [illegible] ago to the extent of about $21 000 [illegible] the assignment fraudulent and [illegible] In rendering his decision the judge [illegible] insolvent debtor whose debts [illegible] and assets did not exceed $30 000 [illegible] judgment in favor of his Portland creditors [illegible] and had execution issued thereon [illegible] stock of goods worth $37 000 [illegible] thereby $15 000 worth of them to sell [illegible] creditors with the intent to prefer them [illegible] Francisco ones, and with the understanding that they would re urn the same to him as [illegible] settle with the latter on terms favorable to himself. The day after [illegible] was confessed an action was commenced [illegible] or the claims of the San Francisco [illegible] amounting to $32 000 and an attachment issued therein and levied on said stock [illegible] in the hands of the sheriff on said [illegible] after, and before judgment could [illegible] actions S. made a general assignment [illegible] benefit of his creditors, to pursue [illegible] the assignee therein claimed the [illegible] the remainder of the goods—about [illegible] still held under the attachment on [illegible] that the same was dissolved by the assignment, and threatened to take the same and dispose thereof thereupon the attaching [illegible] filed a bill to restrain the assignee and [illegible] assignment set aside as fraudulent [illegible] there was a demurrer. Held (1) [illegible] attaching creditor could maintain [illegible] (2) that the confession of judgment [illegible] assignment being parts of one common [illegible] transaction by which the Portland [illegible] were preferred to the San Francisco ones [illegible] of the insolvent debtor's property [illegible] assignment was fraudulent and void.

[illegible] THE BOTTOMS TO VANCOUVER.—[illegible] commissioners who at their last meeting [illegible] the construction of a bridge which shall [illegible] away across the bottom lands of the [illegible] on the road to Vancouver propose [illegible] it shall commence at once. County [illegible] has already advertised for bids for its [illegible] which will be received at the county [illegible] until July 26. By an arrangement made [illegible] the lumber will be furnished [illegible] quartermaster's department of the army and [illegible] contractors at the Lucas Saw mills [illegible] Consequently the contractors have [illegible] upon the cost of labor spikes nails [illegible] the cost of hauling the lumber [illegible] mills. The teams hauling lumber will [illegible] across the Vancouver ferry. The [illegible] be 3115 feet long and will be begun at [illegible] elevated roadway or bridge already [illegible] portion of the bottoms adjacent to the [illegible] This improvement will be appreciated [illegible] have occasion to use the Vancouver [illegible] to Washington territory by team [illegible] during the rainy season and the summer [illegible] the road has been impassable, and the [illegible] been very fortunate to secure the co-operation [illegible] government in this improvement.

[illegible] HARRIS MOVEMENTS.—President Harris [illegible] Northern Pacific railroad was serenaded at [illegible] Wednesday evening. SIMPLY PAYING AN OLD DEBT.—The case of Thomas Brazell against S. D Daniels on trial in the state circuit court, was decided yesterday by the jury returning a verdict in favor of the defendant. It was claimed by the plaintiff that $180 had been loaned by his wife to Daniels at two separate times and had never been repaid. Daniels acknowledged before the jury that he had received this money but set up a counter claim that it was paid to him in order to liquidate an old debt he having a long time previous advanced the money to the women. His side of the case obtained the most credence with the jury as the above stated verdict shows.

VILLARD GETS A DINNER AND A CUP.—A dinner was given in London recently by Mr Grey M P to Henry Villard at which a number of the English visitors to the Pacific slope at the opening of the Northern Pacific railroad were present. Lord Carrington made a speech highly complimentary to Mr Villard and presented him on behalf of his British guests, with a beautiful silver cup shaped like an urn and handsomely wrought with an suitable inscription. Mr Villard responded modestly and happily. He expects to return home about the first of August.

DEATH.—News was received from San Francisco yesterday that Mrs Joseph Knott whose husband died in that city a few days ago departed this life on Wednesday. Her son A J Knott of East Portland accompanied by his wife with W W Knott and other members of the family, arrived in San Francisco by steamer yesterday but only in time to attend the funeral of both the aged people instead of one as they had expected.

GAME SCARCE.—Only about three dozen of grouse have been received at the game markets of this city this season. They sell readily at four bits each and the demand exceeds the supply. There has only been one or two deer in the market as yet since the end of the close season. Unless some of the market hunters stir themselves our citizens will not surfeit themselves with game pies and venison pasties.

TAKEN AN APPEAL.—R E Bybee counsel for Chas Whetstone convicted in the police court of vagrancy and fined $40 yesterday appealed the case to the circuit court filing a bond in the sum of $150. He is confident that he will win the case on the ground that the ordinance is no good. Some one had better commence work on a new ordinance which will hold water in case he should be correct in his idea.

SALE OF WRECKAGE.—After considerable delay owing to litigation among claimants, the rigging and apparel of the wrecked Cairnsmore was sold at Astoria the other day. TWISTING THE PARTY'S TAIL.

What is the excitement?" asked a gentleman as he pushed his way through a crowd on Front street yesterday afternoon.

"Don't you see that bull?" said a bystander. "he represents the democratic party and is on his way to be slaughtered. This is the first democratic demonstration here since the Cleveland convention. The candidates are represented by those two men tugging at the long rope. It will be seen that Cleveland is farther from the party than Hendricks."

"And who does the man twisting the bull's tail represent?"

"Don't you know. That man represents George William Curtis who by several twists makes the bull party go gradually toward the candidates."

"And who is the man holding to the other long rope at the side."

"That is Ben Butler who stands ready to keep the party from running over the candidates whenever it takes a vigorous start after a Curtis twist of the tail."

"They all seem to be more or less afraid that the allegorical party may do something disastrous."

"All except Curtis. He has not been holding it by the tail long enough to fully learn its peculiarities."

The explanation was satisfactory. The four men were half an hour in getting the bull from Washington street to Stark.

THE WEATHER

Amount of Rainfall at Various Points Throughout the Inland Empire and the Willamette Valley—Effect on Crops

Rain fell here all day yesterday with brief intermission not heavily but in a steady wintry fashion which gave but little promise of clearing up. Serious alarm was felt lest it should continue but about 7 P M it ceased and there was only occasional sprinkles after nightfall. The reports given below are of a cheering nature. The rainfall in this valley extended only as far as Eugene and in eastern Oregon very little rain fell. There has been some damage done to hay and rank grain has gone down in some places but owing to the absence of wind it is probable that the damage from lodged grain will be small. Rust is reported from a few points but it is scarcely possible that there can be much damage from this cause owing to the lateness of the season nearly all the grain must be too far advanced toward ripeness to be much affected by rust. Some fields of late sown grain will doubtless be benefited by the rain as will the potato and corn crops. The rain will also cause the wheat to have a plump berry so that it is probable that the loss and gain by the storm so far will be about equal. Should the rain continue for any length of time serious damage will result but the barometer is reported rising at several points and it is to be hoped that the rain is over and our farmers may be blessed with their usual fine harvest weather. Much depends on the safe gathering of the bounteous harvest now ready for the sickle.

AINSWORTH NOTES

AINSWORTH July 16

There is an increasing demand for laborers on the Cascade division of the N P.

Wells Fargo & Co have appointed an agent at Palouse Junction and no doubt a postoffice could be had there by the asking.

It is expected that repairs on the steamer [illegible] Billings, at Celilo will be completed so the boat goes into service on the Columbia about the first of August.

Judge V D Lay one of our heavy men, is talking of burning a brick kiln and erecting a fine block with the products thereof while Mr John Schaefer and her capitalist is maturing plans for boring an artesian well.

Removals and resignations (especially the latter) have been so numerous along the Idaho division of the Northern Pacific of late that no one can calculate what a day or a trip will bring forth and yet the morals of the operating force does not seem to improve.

THE CITY ELECTION

Our first city election took place on the 14th inst and resulted in the success of Mr John T [illegible] merchant for mayor. Joseph Diamond merchant P Paderson saloonist C M Smith ferryman S D Lacy capitalist and Hon John Hersem, proprietor of a German band, as councilmen and Sheriff W B Gray as city marshal. The vote was 200 (barring the last cipher) and would have been even larger only it was well into the afternoon before the election machinery could be got to running, and the question decided as to whether saloon keepers were compelled to close their places of business on a lo al election day and besides two or three of our best citizens have gone to the mines or somewhere else for their health.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mayor Shull has returned from Spokane Falls and the mines and has gone up the Yakima country on another for a range and business location. John S Hafer has gone to San Francisco on a six weeks pleasure trip. James Keith is revelling among the fall timber on the [illegible] Marshal Bolton is wearing out a cayuse in the Yakima region. James O Lewis has returned from a protracted visit to the Willamette valley. George Merston is back from a health seeking pilgrimage to the Arkansas sulphur springs. Postmaster M D Cody has taken service with Nelson Bennett on the Cascade branch, and Deputy Postmaster George J Hurley is running the office. Dennis Gray is home from a recuperatory trip to Medical lake, looking as fine as silk. Mrs. [illegible] M Kanlon, with her young daughter is visiting her old home at Tacoma. Society has lost one of its principal charms by the departure of Miss Mary Steffens for Walla Walla.

W. J. Quinn, Merchant Tailor,
29 Stark st., will make to order 50 business suits of fine English and Scotch suitings. The goods are also new but arrived two months too late for the season, and must be sold at a loss.

AT THE SEASIDE.

NORTH BEACH July 16

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Although the season this year is a late one there are nevertheless, a large number of people already at this and neighboring camps and many more constantly arriving. For the past week or so the weather has been delightful rather warm but tempered by the cool sea breezes. Just at present, however there is a slight rain.

The following Portlanders have registered at Sea View house from the first of July to date: A Mc Able J B Fabian and two children J F Watson Mrs J F Watson and child Mrs J W Whalley the Misses Whalley S L Gilman R B Fleming and wife R Eckford, Mrs Alice H des J P Moffett C Pfluger W L Lindhard W H Williams David Williams, L M Bogardus, Charles Ericson, Paul Widdell F Wineburgh H A Smith, F W Mollis D W Hosqling wife and child J D Shaw C H Warner W H Wallace G H Berger J McDermott Edward O Dea W T Beveridge, W H Marshall and wife E H M [illegible] and wife I E Brow W H Howes, O W Johnson wife and child Mrs J W Barnes and two children, J G Mayland and daughter Hugh Cameron A Anderson Mrs L B Kearney Miss Kate Dearborn, Henry E Woods John McFall F Corbett John L Yeats, Misses Bertha and Pauline Baum W F Whitcomb and wife A B Breyman and wife.

And the following are in cottages or camping only Rev J E Acton and family, L G Clarke, Mrs John Barrett and family Peter Daly and family the Misses Wallace Willie Wallace, Mrs George Ainslie and family Mrs C Burrows and family Mrs McGinn and family Walter McGinn Mrs W H Williams and family Mrs G W Bittock and child, Mrs I Thorkelson and child Miss Ada Bates Miss Jessie Lockett S D Smith and family W F Brown and family, Mrs Gantenbein and family H Leibe and family Mrs Jessie Willard and family Mrs Craig and family I Shockley and family Mrs Bigham, mother and family Mrs T Stapleton and family, Mrs I J Northrup E P Northrup, Mrs D W Hool bing and child Mrs Laurence and family.

At the East Portland camp are Dr Plummer and family Mrs W C Noon and family Mrs Burnell Mrs Gilliland and family, Prof Chaney, C H Mouse durier and family Mr Mills and wife.

At Ocean park A W Oliver and family.

STRAY ITEMS

The bathing is excellent.

Clams are being brought in quite lively—that is the clams are lively.

J S Stout has added a two story wing to his hotel, containing additional sleeping rooms at an expense of about $3 000.

The narrow gauge railroad to Shoalwater bay will pass directly in front of Stout's and a station will probably be erected at that point.

Many Portlanders are building cottages near Stout's or have already built the same. They cost generally from $100 to $350 and $400.

The young people amuse themselves in fishing, bathing, dancing etc. and around the pleasant camp fires on the beach. There is room for all. Come on!

SALEM NOTES

SALEM July 16

Misses Gertie and Helen Jordan of East Portland are visiting friends in this city.

Mrs D Taylor will this afternoon receive a number of her lady friends at lunch.

Mr and Mrs S A Clarke have moved on to their farm a short distance south of the city.

James W McAfee and family have gone to Soda Springs to camp out for a couple of weeks.

Ed N Edes has accepted a deputyship in the office of M N Chapman our newly installed county clerk.

The Wizard Oil concert troupe entertain a large crowd nightly and appear to be doing a good business.

Mrs C S Woodworth entertained a large number of her lady friends yesterday afternoon with a lunch party.

C J Christie of Portland, H F Burleigh of Alder and J H Nesler of Coquille City have been appointed notaries public.

John Donaldson is erecting a new house on State street which has already been leased for a term of years to W D Caldwell, Esq.

George Herren formerly of your city is filling a responsible clerkship in the office of the State Insurance Company in this city.

Several new brick stores will be erected at an early day on the north side of State street in the rear of what is known as the Moores block.

We have been having a heavy rain storm of several days duration which by its continuance is making our farmers look uneasy. There are at present some indications of its clearing up however as the barometer is rising slowly. Considerable hay and some wheat will be damaged.

Misses Ellen Chamberlin and Julia [illegible] started on Wednesday last for a trip through the eastern states. Miss Ellen Chamberlin will return to Oregon about the last of December and resume her duties as teacher in the Dallas Independent academy. Miss Julia Chamberlin will remain at Boston where she will attend the musical conservatory.

The Yamhill Industrial Association has filed articles of incorporation in the office of the secretary of state with B F Hartman A J Apperson W C [illegible] Jefferson George Cole and J C Cooper as incorporators. Object the encouragement of agriculture horticulture stock raising mechanical and other industries carrying on fairs instituting a driving park etc. Capital stock $5 000 principal office McMinnville.

Mrs America Smith, the insane patient about whom there has been much written, is again safely housed at the asylum. According to her own story her husband who on the 18th day of June secured her release for the purpose of taking her east instead of going directly to the [illegible] informed the authorities he would [illegible] for some old cabin in the woods about two miles from town. There they found her boy who had in charge a wagon and team used as shelter, was given to understand in the business of peddling. They must have remained there several days together. The man and boy finally deserted her and the woman started for Oregon City and Portland in search of them. Exposure and hardship told on her and her brain again became dazed which resulted in her being returned here. She has neither seen nor heard anything of her husband since his cruel desertion of her.

WORKINGS OF THE TAX LAW

WALLA WALLA W T, July 1

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Having noticed from time to time several communications in your paper on the Oregon tax law, I would like to call your attention to a sample of the law as administered in Lane county. In April 1882 I took a note for $[illegible] secured by mortgage on real estate in said county. The following July there was paid on the note $35 and in the year 1883 $[illegible] leaving only $[illegible] due. Now the sheriff of said county proceeds and forces collection of taxes on the full face of the note $[illegible] and the county court refuses to allow me to deduct from the note my indebtedness in said county for the reason that I am a non resident. Why as a non resident and not allow the [illegible] debtedness in the same county to be deducted? Respectfully

I M DAVIS

WANTED.

Chemists of the nation charge the Royal Baking Powder Company with the use of the powerful drug AMMONIA in their Powder, that no article of food should be tainted by this unsafe drug, that it is unfit for appearance in any human diet, that its long continued use in any form will derange the blood, that it is only found in the natural food and drink of man as an accidental impurity.

That NATURE ABHORS and expels it as an excrement.

That in a Baking Powder it has not even the virtue of necessity.

If the charge is unjust, would it not be an act of justice to themselves, as well as a polite concession to a deeply interested public sentiment to answer the charge? To answer immediately? To answer honestly? Oily evasion won't do. Oily dignity, oily plausibility, oily non-committal won't do. Ridicule won't do. Come forward in a manly way and give the public evidence that justifies its use.

5 per cent. of Ammonia.

"I find PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER a WHOLESOME and STRONG combination of PURE MATERIALS entirely free from AMMONIA which is contained in almost all other Baking Powders, including "Royal," in which I HAVE FOUND AS HIGH AS FIVE PER CENT. of this unnecessary substance.

PROF CHARLES E DWIGHT,
Chemist Laboratory Wheeling W Va

June 14th 1884

PROTECTION.

Every housewife can try the "Royal," or any other Baking Powder by placing the can, top down on a hot stove till heated. Remove the cover, and, if there, she will smell AMMONIA. After which she can change it for Price's Cream, that has nothing base in it.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 18, 1884.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

FRIDAY, July 18.

Showers during the night and several hours of cold rain to-day cause increased anxiety as to grain. While the rainfall in wheat sections has not been nearly so heavy as at this point, yet it has been unusual for the season. It is seldom that Oregon has more than half an inch of rain in July. The present shower alone will be more than the average monthly fall. At 8 A. M. to-day the rain extended up the Columbia as far as Willows, Riparia, Wallula and Umatilla reporting light showers last night or early to-day.

Overland receipts include 100 cs lard, 10 sks coffee, 1 bbl sugar, 4 cs syrup, 26 cs lemons, 2 cs cigars, 41 pkgs tobacco, 103 1 f 30 qr beer, 46 bxs 600 kegs nails.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past twenty-four hours: 12,963 lbs wool, 303 lbs hides, 41 cs eggs, 4 bxs butter. Also 220 bbls flour, 45,064 lbs wool from the eastern section.

SALMON SHIPMENTS—Per steamer Columbia to San Francisco: Cutting 100, G. W. Hume 1000, Warren 118; total 1218 cases.

Per British bark Woodlark to Liverpool: Aberdeen 1600, Badollet 5000, Columbia Canning Co. 1000, Fishermen's Pkg. Co. 2505, Hanthorn 1250, I X L Pkg Co. 1250, Knappton Pkg. Co. 3108, G. T. WHEAT—The local market is inactive and nominal. Telegraphed markets are firmer, with advances in some directions.

On the last day of February the senate passed a resolution calling upon the secretary of state for information respecting the world's wheat supply. The resolution called for a statement derived from correspondence with our representatives abroad, or otherwise, as to the average amount of wheat, rye, corn, and cotton produced, consumed in, exported from, and imported into the several foreign countries, with the surplus at the end of the crop year 1882; also the amount produced in each of the countries in the crop year 1883, with the probable surplus or deficiency, and the probable requirements of such products from this country before the crops of 1884 are ready to market. The answer, such as it is, has just been published. The statistics and estimates are not yet complete, and they do not cover the crop years, for the reason, as stated by Secretary Frelinghuysen, that "all official returns in Europe are computed for the calendar year."

The secretary states respecting wheat that "the most liberal allowance for the wheat output necessary to the world's consumption shows that the United States should be drawn upon during the present year for 188,000,000 bushels, in round numbers, against 187,000,000 from all other wheat growing countries." According to this estimate, the United States will be called upon to supply a little more than one-half of the deficiencies in countries producing less than they require for their own consumption. Mr Frelinghuysen infers from the fact that we export more than any other country that we ought to control the price. But that does not follow. Africa exports more ivory than any other country, but does not control the price of ivory. Great Britain exports more cotton goods than any other country, but does not fix the price of cotton goods. Consumers have something to say about prices as well as producers. The Commercial Bulletin (New York) has compiled from the secretary's report the following tabular statement of average yield, export, import, and consumption of wheat for the several countries named:

*Net.

OATS—Offerings continue ample, with buying confined to local needs. Quote feed oats 45@47½c.

POTATOES—Plenty coming in, and values are unchanged but weak.

CHICKENS—Young bring $3@4, old $5@6, the extremes being realized for choice. The market shows no new feature.

EGGS—Arrivals fair, but a good request prevents accumulation. Quote 20 cents.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The Astoria wire went down this afternoon. The barkentine reported as passing in is doubtless the Portland, with cargo from San Francisco.

The Columbia reached San Francisco at 1 A. M. and the State of California sailed at 10:30 A. M.

The Oregon sails hence Sunday night.

The bark Sierra Nevada, 604 tons, built in Maine in 1863, was recently sold at San Francisco to Leon Blum for $5000.

The crew of the collier Willamette refused to sail with her from San Francisco at the reduced wages offered. A new crew were shipped, but the engineers were retained at the old wages, because none could be secured at a reduction.

Ships' crews at San Francisco amuse themselves at sailing or rowing races, and several take place each week on the bay.

The Woodlark, salmon laden for Liverpool, crossed out to-day.

The British bark Janet McNeil takes berth at Liverpool in Balfour, Guthrie & Co.'s line to this port.

The Merchandise Markets.

A very fair goods call obtains, and the distribution is satisfactory for the season. All are working as closely as trade will admit. Importations are not free.

BREAD, ETC.—We quote ship bread 3½c, pilot 4c, extra do 4½c, soda crackers 5@6c.

BEANS—Small whites lower at 3c; others steady at 5½c for bayos, 4½c for butter and 5c for pinks.

COAL OIL—Slow at 17@26c. The Belle of Oregon brought 8000 cases from New York.

COFFEE—Quote Costa Rica 12½@13½c; Salvador and Guatemala, 11½@12½c; best Java, 20c.

CANNED GOODS—We quote: Corn, $2 60; tomatoes, 2½s, $1 25, and gallons $4 25; pie peaches, $2@2 25; table do, $2 50@2 75; assorted table fruits $2 50; assorted pie do, gallons $4 25, 2½s $1 50@1 75.

PICKLES—Kegs, $1 12½@1 37½.

SALT—Liverpool fine very firm at $17, $20 and $22 50 as to size of containers. Half ground coast $9 50@10 50 with good call.

SUGARS—(A) patent cube, 9⅜c; (A) crushed, 9⅜c; dry granulated, 9½c; golden C, 8c; extra golden C, 8½c; extra powdered, 10c; D, 7c. Quotations are for barrels.

GRAIN BAGS—Holders are firm, expecting a good call. Arrivals are increasing with us. The selling price is 7½@8c for new, but this is shaded for old for cash.

THE MEAT MARKET.

Quotations represent prices paid to dealers by slaughterers.

BEEF—Grass fed brings 3½c gross.

VEAL—Steady at 8@9 and 10c for large and small.

MUTTON—Ewes, 2¼c; other, 2½c.

LAMBS—Ordinary sized, $1 75.

HOGS—Lessened request and free offerings have reduced prices. Choice fat, 5½c; fair to good, 5¼c; dressed, 7@7½c.

POSTMASTERS' SALARIES.

The List, as Revised Since the Increase, for Oregon and Washington Territory.

[CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, July 9.

The annual adjustment of the salaries of post offices of the presidential grade has been completed by the officials of the post office department. These offices are divided into three classes, and are termed presidential because when the salary thereof is $1000 the postmaster is appointed by the president and confirmed by the senate. The first class comprises those offices where the gross receipts are $40,000, thereby under the law justifying the payment of a salary of $3000. The only office of this class in Oregon is Portland. In the second class are placed all receiving from $2000 to $3000. To enter this class the gross receipts must be $8800. The third class receive from $1000 to $2300, and to secure the first named salary the gross receipts must be $1900. The only office of the second class in the state is Salem.

Under the present adjustment the salaries have not been largely increased, nor have they been largely diminished. The reduction of the rate of letter postage has prevented any large advance, for the reason that the postal revenues have not been augmented in a sufficient degree, while, on the other hand, the large increase in the postal business has stopped any very heavy reductions which some anticipated.

The largest increase in salary in the state is returned by the Pendleton office, where a gain of $200 is made. Both Astoria and East Portland secure an addition of a single hundred. Two offices, Corvallis and Oregon City, suffer a reduction of $100 apiece. Since the last adjustment one office, Jacksonville, has been promoted to the presidential grade.

In Washington the largest single increase is made by Spokane Falls, where the salary allowance is advanced $300. The next highest is made by Seattle, the amount being $200. Three offices, Colfax, Dayton and Olympia, each secure an additional $100. In Washington there has not been a loss of salary at any postoffice, which is about the only instance of this kind in the country. Under the present adjustment two offices of the fourth class are advanced to the presidential rank. They are Port Townsend and Sprague.

The following statement shows the presidential postoffices in Oregon and Washington, together with the salaries, as fixed under the present adjustment, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1885:

OREGON.

Offices.	Salary.	Offices.	Salary.
Albany	$1500	Oregon City	$1200
Astoria	1900	Pendleton	1600

THE INDECENT PUBLICATION NUISANCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

A petition was presented by the Oregon Humane Society at the last meeting of the city council, asking that a building be erected for killing dogs in a less cruel manner than is now practiced. Let me now draw the serious attention not only of the humane society but of the clergy and the citizens generally to a species of cruelty practiced daily upon our children, endangering not only their bodies but their morals, engendering the very cruelty against which the society is contending. I mean the open, bare-faced manner in which lewd and obscene pictures are publicly exhibited on nearly every corner of our main thoroughfares. Very few have any idea of the demoralization which these pictures with their kindred publications are creating in the rising generation. Daily are seen our youths round those pictures, hearing the rude remarks of a set of lascivious loafers, until their minds become thoroughly imbued with vice, and they are lost to modesty and shame, and all the evil consequences follow. Now if there are persons whose passions must be pandered to, and if there are booksellers who must keep such idle trash to oblige such customers, then, in the name of morality, let such be kept from public gaze, and not be publicly exhibited to a vulgar crowd. And if there is no law as yet in Oregon to prohibit this nasty display then let the humane society agitate the subject and bring it up before our next legislature, and have such laws passed as will not only prohibit the public exhibition, but the sale of these papers. So great has the evil consequences become in New York that the legislature have with singular unanimity passed a stringent act, as will appear from the following extract:

An excellent law, which has just gone into effect in this state, provides that one selling, lending or giving away, or showing, or having in possession with intent to sell or give away, or to show or advertise, or otherwise offering for show, sale or distribution, an obscene or indecent book, magazine, pamphlet, newspaper, story paper, writing, paper, picture, drawing or photograph, or preparing any such thing, or giving information where such things may be procured, shall be considered guilty of a misdemeanor, and punished as such. The law goes still further, and declares punishable the selling, lending, giving away, etc., to any minor, of books pamphlets, magazines, newspapers or other printed paper devoted to the publication or chiefly made up of criminal news, police reports or accounts of criminal deeds, or pictures and stories of deeds of bloodshed, lust or crime. This law passed, we are informed, at the instance of the excellent New York society for the prevention of cruelty to children, if properly carried out, will do much to abate the nuisance and evil of which we spoke last week—of the hurtful juvenile literature known as the Boys' Story Paper. If every citizen will now make it his business to aid the society in its endeavor to have the law enforced, the exposure of this detestable literature within the reach of the youth in this city may at least be brought within narrow limits.

Let this movement in New York be followed in Oregon and by every state, and seconded by every citizen who has the good of his country at heart.

The Fatalist's Terrible Test

S. F. News-Letter.

The world is full of fatalists. It is an easy and comfortable belief. I have been told a peculiar anecdote on the subject. At a frontier post the officers' mess was engaged in an ardent discussion. Wine had been freely partaken of, and, with one of the strange caprices of intoxication, there was philosophy at the bottom of the glasses. The Mahommedan religion was the subject of argument. Mussulmans believe in fate. For them a man's destiny is written above, the time of his death is set, and nothing can advance it. Every one had something to advance or relate in pro or con argument. In answer to one of the officers, who demanded to know of what use and to what purpose was reason and its controlling power if we were born with the tag of our destiny attached, another—a newcomer—arose and said, "Gentlemen, what is the use of discussion? Make a practical test of the question. Take me as a subject. Can a man willfully dispose of his life, or is the fatal moment chosen by a higher power. Try the question on me. Who will conduct the experiment?" No one answered. Then some one proposed a wager. "Done," was the answer. The subject drew a pistol, showed that it was loaded, and held it to his temple. "Twenty dollars, I believe. Who will pay if I lose?" He pulled the trigger, and the pistol missed fire. "A joke!" cried the crowd. The fatalist smiled. He recocked the pistol, and with a steady hand aimed at a clock on the wall. He fired, and the bullet went right through the center of the dial. "Apologize now," said he. "I have won the bet. I always did believe in fate."

Charles Hastings' Curious Deed.

A curious document has been recorded in the Worcester county, Mass., registry of deeds. It is a deed of one-half an acre of land in Ashburnham, Mass., with buildings. It states that "I, Charles Hastings, of Ashburnham, gentleman, in consideration of the love and good will of the Lord Jesus and one cent found on the premises of life, the rightful owner of all lands, as recorded in the first book of laws, the bible, fiftieth Psalm of King David, 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th, and 23d and 24th verses, the receipt whereof I do hereby acknowledge, do hereby give, grant and convey unto the Lord Jesus, the supreme ruler of the universe, a portion of the late Colonel Joseph Jewett's land," etc. The instrument goes on to say that "The said property is given in trust, reserving however, the right to occupy and improve, make repairs, pay taxes, insurance policies, etc., in fact, retain it under my control as agent, and making all proper reservations for myself and others during my natural life, the two southwest chambers and one of the storerooms below to be kept for historical rooms for relics of various kinds, and not to be let, such as belonged to Susan W. Hastings and others; that nothing is to be sold, neither real nor personal property, forever, but kept in trust for a memorial by those who have faith in the blessed Lord Jesus, and to continue by his employment forever to occupy according to his will." This instrument was duly signed, sealed and delivered in the presence of three witnesses, acknowledged before a justice of the peace in Ashburnham, and accompanied by the legal fees for its recording.

SOUTH AMERICA.

MUCH SICKNESS AT PANAMA.

PANAMA, July 18.—There is much sickness here. In one hospital there are over a dozen cases of yellow fever, and 100 of dysentery.

Mrs. James Lewis, wife of the comedian in Augustin Daly's company, is spending the summer in Paris, the guest of Mme. Nevada, the prima donna. She has been cordially received by the American colony and Mrs. John A. Mackay recently gave a dinner in her honor.

HUNT'S (Kidney and Liver) REMEDY is no "hit or miss" compound or old woman's herb cure. It is prepared by a scientific pharmacist, with a full knowledge of the powers and virtues of each ingredient in the class of diseases which it cures. It is purely vegetable and cannot harm the youngest child or the most feeble invalid.

THE SAW MILL MEN.

They Acquiesce in the Proposition to Shut Down their Mills on the 15th of September.

Pioneer Press, 5th.

The second of the meetings of the St. Paul lumbermen's exchange was held last evening to further discuss the proposition to shut down the saw mills on September 1. There were present representatives of Farnham & Lovejoy, J. E. Burkett & Co., Clough Bros., Clinton Morrison, the Washburn Mill Company, S. G. Cook & Co., Fletcher Bros. & Nelson, Tenney & Co. The matter was discussed at some length, the most serious obstacle to the way of carrying out the plan proposed, and which originated in Eau Claire, appearing to be the difficulty of safely storing the logs now in the main river. After a very free discussion, lasting about an hour, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the Lumbermen's exchange coincide with the sentiment expressed in the resolution adopted at a meeting of the lumbermen of Eau Claire, held in that city on June 23.

Resolved further, That in view of the large amount of logs now in the booms at the different lumber localities, we deem it important that some steps be taken, if possible, to prevent them being put on the market in the shape of lumber to further depress prices, and we know of no better way than to follow out the suggestion thrown out at the meeting at Eau Claire, by a meeting in Chicago for the purpose of consulting with a view of bringing about the desired result.

Resolved, That we are in favor of shutting down our mills at the time indicated, or as soon thereafter as the safety of the stock of logs will admit.

There were not represented at the meeting the Diamond Mill Company, Nye Leighton, owners of the Plymouth mill, James Goodman and the Minneapolis Mill Company, all now sawing for other parties and not interested in the lumber market, except indirectly. Morrison, Bovey & Co. [illegible] Martin & Co. and Y. [illegible] Co., besides other small mill owners or mills, who have logs in the river. Some of these mills, however, have declared their determination not to shut down, and the action taken last evening therefore can not be considered by any means decisive.

The Female Millennium.

Wirth says that very few women dress absolutely according to the existing fashion. Possibly this is an indication of the coming of the time when it will be the correct thing to be unfashionable, and the spirit of independence which may also be noticeable for the entire emancipation of women from tyranny of every kind and degree, including Mr. Worth.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Castoria promotes Digestion and overcomes Flatulency, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, and Feverishness. It insures health and natural sleep, without morphine.

"Castoria is so well adapted to Children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 82 Portland Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

What gives our Children rosy cheeks, What cures their fevers, makes them sleep; 'Tis Castoria.

When babies fret and cry by turns, What cures their colic, kills their worms, But Castoria.

Farewell then to Morphine Syrups, Castor Oil and Paregoric, and Hail Castoria!
